Cry It Out by Molly Smith Metzler is a funny and heartfelt comedy about two new mothers from very different backgrounds who form an unexpected friendship while navigating the exhaustion, joy, and isolation of early motherhood. As their daily coffee meetings become a lifeline, the arrival of a wealthy new mom challenges their views on class, privilege, and what it truly means to struggle. Both sharp and compassionate, the play explores friendship, parenthood, and the need for connection. Part of the Alaska Theater Festival 2026.

The Alaska Theater Festival is supported by the Juneau Arts and Humanities Council, the City and Borough of Juneau and Filipino Community, Inc.
